U.N. Survival Seen at Stake in Struggle

Raul Castro Hints Guantanamo Base Seizure

May Take Over Area Any Time U.S. Embassy Is 'Cave of Spies,' He Tells 50,000

FROM SMILES TO WRATH — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro waves to welcoming group at New York's Idlewild Airport as he arrives for meeting of United Nations General Assembly. But close police guard put on him later made him angry. He quit acting up at one hotel and removed his entourage to another hotel in Harlem. His brother, Raul, in Cuba, said Fidel's government might seize the U.S. military base at Guantanamo in retaliation for clamp-down in New York City. (AP Wirephoto)

12 Boys Due in Court On Pay-off Complaints

Twelve teen-age boy pupils at Myron J. Michael School, who were questioned by police during investigation of complaints that several students were threatened if they didn't pay members of teen-age group money for protection against beatings, will be petitioned into Children's Court soon.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy told The Freeman today that Detective Leonard Ellsworth on Monday obtained the petitions and that 12 pupils will be in Children's Court.

Five Return to Classes

Stephen G. Hyatt, principal of the MJM school, who took part in the preliminary investigation after parents complained to authorities their sons had been threatened by a gang if they refused to pay 15 cents for protection against beatings, said today that five of the boys, originally picked up for questioning and sent to their homes, had returned to their classes.

Hyatt said the other seven boys are under suspension pending hearings in Children's Court.

'Vicious Racket' Says Chief

During the early phases of the police investigation, Chief Murphy termed the incident "a very vicious racket" and could lead to more serious crimes by youngsters."

The chief said at that time all detectives were working on the case, which he referred to as "an insurance of extortion racket at MJM school. "He said that about a dozen boys had decided to form a protective association, and threatened other boys with beatings if they didn't pay 15 cents a day to members of the organized group.

Speno to Fight For Seat Belts In Automobiles

The chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety this morning told a hostile audience that the Committee will introduce legislation mandating the installation of seat belts in all cars sold in this state.

State Senator Edward J. Speno of East Meadow, L.I., was the main speaker at a convention of the New York State Automobile Dealers Association at the Concord Hotel in Sullivan County. This Association and the Automobile Manufacturers Association of Detroit, which represents Ford, Chrysler and General Motors, opposed Speno's seat belt bill during the last session of the Legislature. Fourteen of the Speno Committee bills were enacted into law. The seat belt bill was not passed.

"We will introduce the bill for the second time and fight for it," Senator Speno told the convention, "because evaluation of accidents and controlled experiments have demonstrated that seat belts reduce the likelihood of fatality by 50 per cent and of death by 30 per cent."

Observers noted that the Soviet bloc joined in the 80-0 vote on a provision in the 17-nation resolution calling on all nations to refrain from giving war material or sending military personnel to the turbulent Congo.

The General Assembly action came after the Russians had vetoed a similar resolution in the Security Council. The United States promoted the emergency session. The big power veto does not apply in the assembly.

Castro Moves on to Harlem*Tab, Police Too Much For The Bearded Cuban

By HAL MCCLURE

NEW YORK (AP) — An angry Fidel Castro, complaining of tight security restrictions and room rates stalked out of his hotel Monday night and moved into the heart of Negro Harlem.

The familiar cry of "Cuba si, Yankees no" roared from a crowd of 1,000 as the Cuban prime minister moved into new quarters at the Hotel Theresa.

The bearded Castro, clad in batiste green fatigues, waved his arms and smiled at his supporters—in sharp contrast to his earlier mood of apparent rage.

Jumpo Hotel Bill

The move to Harlem apparently jumped the daily hotel bill from $400 to $700 for the Castro entourage of almost 90 persons.

Love Woods, Negro owner of the Hotel Theresa, said a Castro representative paid $700 in cash for the first day.

Castro, here to attend the United Nations General Assembly session, also took a complaint of "dis-courtesy" and "brusque police

Nikita Pays Call By Surprise on Fidel in Harlem

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev paid a surprise call on Cuban Premier Fidel Castro today in a dramatic show of Soviet-Cuban solidarity.

The visit was a curtain raiser to the 3 p.m. EDT opening of a historic U.N. General Assembly, where both leaders were set to steal the show.

Khrushchev, undaunted by a stunning setback in the United Nations Congo debate, appeared as ebullient as ever as he traveled in a motorcade to the new hotel lodgings of the Cuban premier in New York's crowded Harlem, whose population while mostly Negro includes many Spanish-speaking residents.

Castro has already made known his plans to attend the assembly opening.

methods" to U.S. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Assassins Management

The switch in hotels came after Castro assailed the management of the Hotel Shelburne in midtown Manhattan over room prices and treatment and after he threatened:

1. To camp in Central Park.
2. To set up tents on U.N. grounds.

"We are mountain people," stormed Castro. "We are used to sleeping in the open air."

"Purely propaganda," snorted the Shelburne's owner, Edward Spatz.

In Havana, Castro's brother, Raul, took to the air and addressed a rally to the Cuban people of alleged disloyalty to their leader in New York.

Castro has been restricted to the 22-square miles of Manhattan during his U.N. stay — for security reasons.

Never Welcomed

At the Shelburne, the situation became intolerable, said Castro. The Cuban delegation had difficulty getting hotel accommodations in the first place, and finally landed at the Shelburne only after the U.S. State Department and the United Nations intervened.

Hotelman Spatz never wanted the Cubans there and didn't hesitate to say so.

The Castro entourage had moved into 20 Shelburne suites at $20 a day each—for a daily total of $400. The hotel asked a $10,000 guarantee on the bill. Spatz received $5,000 and another $5,000 was promised, but when a bond for that amount arrived, Spatz turned it down, saying it looked phony.

Refuse Hotel Food

The Cubans refused to partake of hotel food, sending out for hamburgers and cheeseburgers. They also brought along crates of biscuits, Cuban black beans and bags of peanuts—and reportedly chickens, which they plucked and cooked in their rooms.

The hotel provides refrigerators but no cooking facilities. A hotel spokesman said the Castro group brought along their own hot plates to do their cooking. He said they left several uncooked chickens and steaks in the refrigerators when they walked out.

Castro sent a protest to Hammarskjold, followed by a personal visit to the U.N. headquarters. After three hours, it was announced that the Castro party was moving to Harlem, despite an offer of free accommodations at the Commodore Hotel.

Moving to Harlem presented another security problem for the police, but they quickly erected wooden barricades around the Theresa Hotel. Police already had their hands full keeping anti-Castro and pro-Castro forces apart at the Shelburne.

Kasavubu said he had discussed the possible reconciliation with sources close to Lumumba but that he had refused to sign any agreement leaving Lumumba in the premier's office.

Kasavubu has appointed Joseph Ileo premier. Jean Bolikango, Ileo's information minister, said the new government named by Ileo had not taken over effective power because it hoped to reach agreement with Lumumba.

There is some doubt if Lumumba will take the cabinet post under Ileo.

Bilikango said however, "Lumumba is intelligent enough to know that the Congo cannot continue in the present chaos, and that some compromise must be found."

Bilikango conceded that army Gen. Joseph Mobutu, the reigning strongman of the Congo, was not fully in control of the 3,000 or so soldiers stationed at Camp Leopold on the outskirts of Leopoldville.

Tito Here, Hoping to Ease Tension

NEW YORK (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito arrived here today and said he will attend the United Nations General Assembly in an effort to ease world tensions.

The known dead stood at 36 five days after heavy rain began pouring down over the Alps.

Streams, turned into raging torrents, flooded thousands of acres of farmland, brought down landslides and caused the collapse of homes and bridges.

The Communist leader smiled broadly and waved to greeters. "We come to the United Nations to explain our views ... the many problems of the world," he told newsmen.

He was cheered by a group of about 100 persons on his arrival on the liner Queen Elizabeth.

The Hudson River pier at which the big liner tied up was guarded by 500 policemen. The precautions were second only to those taken for arrival of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Also on the liner was Gen. Mehmet Shehu, premier of Communist Albania, a bitter foe of Tito.

When Tito came down the gangplank, two Yugoslav children presented him bouquets. The 68-year-old looked tanned and fit.

It was raining when the Cunard liner steamed up the Hudson—the same kind of weather that greeted Khrushchev.

Tito got into a limousine and was whisked off to his country's permanent mission to the United Nations on Fifth Avenue — his home while in New York.

There were no pickets or demonstrators when Tito's motorcade arrived at the Yugoslav delegation headquarters.

Premier Shehu followed Tito off the ship 25 minutes later. He outlined Albania's dedication to "peaceful coexistence."

The general tenor of his statement followed closely those of other Communist leaders who arrived here Monday.

Tito, unlike Communist bloc leaders, may be invited to Washington, or to confer with Eisenhower during the President's visit here Thursday.

serious injury by 60 per cent. Speno referred particularly to a study conducted by the Cornell University Crash-Injury Bureau of 20,000 actual auto accidents, in 714 of which seat belts were worn.

Blames Auto Industry

Senator Speno said that the industry to install seat belt fixtures is a "serious indictment of the entire auto industry."

Senator Speno agreed with the representatives of the auto dealers that "public acceptance" of seat belts is only 2 per cent, but the Senator said that this is true only because installation must be specifically requested and separately paid for by the auto buyer.

The New York State Association of Magistrates yesterday endorsed the Speno Committee's entire thirty-bill legislative program, including mandatory installation of seat belts.

Speno was the main speaker yesterday afternoon at an Association of Magistrates convention at Grossingers Hotel, Sullivan County.

The 1960 legislative record on motor vehicles is one which is an inspiration to all persons concerned with traffic safety," Hempstead Village Police Justice Alexander Berman, president of the Association of Magistrates and chairman of its Legislative Committee, told the convention.

Says Speno Practical

"The Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles & Traffic Safety is directly responsible for the enlightened and progressive approach to motor vehicle problems," Judge Berman said. "Senator Speno is directing a forward-looking, practical and comprehensive legislative program which gets to the roots of the causes and prevention of accidents. He is able to do this because of his tireless, fearless approach to the problems, and his keen understanding of this very vast and intricate field."

Judge Berman particularly singled out for praise the newly-enacted committee bills concerning driving while ability is impaired by alcohol; abolishing junior licenses in Nassau County; abolishing the one-quarter-mile "police chase rule" in order to make use of radar equipment possible; and establishing a new basic speed rule. The Association of Magistrates, Judge Berman said, also endorses the bills to be re-introduced by Speno abolishing junior licenses throughout the state and establishing state-subsidized driver education courses in every public high school.

Rocky Is Given Warm Welcome By Delaware GOP

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Delaware Republicans gave a warm reception to New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller Monday night as he helped them kick off their 1960 election campaign.

Rockefeller spent about four hours in the state. He held a brief press conference at Dover Air Force Base, shook hands with some 300 persons in Dover and addressed a sellout crowd of 849 at a rally in nearby Camden.

The New York governor plugged the party's national candidates and its Delaware ticket, especially Gov. J. Caleb Boggs, nominee for the U.S. Senate.

Rockefeller predicted a GOP victory in his home state. "We're going to take care of New York," he told party leaders who greeted him at the air base. "What we want is for you to take care of Delaware."

Rockefeller said the November election probably will be the most important ever held in America because of "the decade of danger" ahead.

He said democracy is being challenged "by an atheistic, communistic force with an ultimate aim of dominating the world." He also said the United States is vulnerable to attack for the first time in history.

Rockefeller said the Republican ticket of Nixon-Lodge is the best team to deal with these "hard realities."

"We need experienced men to face them. You don't negotiate from weakness. You can only beg," he said.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON
MUMBO JUMBO LUMUMBA

Although little noticed, the big struggle in the world is: Who Is Going to Control the U.N.?

When the U.N. was organized in 1945, it had 51 members. Of these, the African and Asian members were 15 in number. The "West" or the countries that voted with the West were in control.

Today, U.N. membership totals 99 countries, and the Asian and African countries are 50. But these new "nations" are being spawned like rabbits.

In 1962, total members will be 108, and the African and Asian countries will number 58. Each new, tiny "nation" will have one vote,—as much voting power in the U.N. Assembly as the United States.

In a couple of years, or less, the "non-white" nations of Asia and Africa will have a clear majority of the votes in the U.N.

How their votes will be cast on any measure in the future, no one knows. Maybe they will stay friendly, at least some of them. But maybe they won't.

If enough of them adopted the Communist "line," Red China will be voted into the club, and the United States may find, too late, that it put a long noose around its neck when it joined the club.

Then the jungle drums could beat "MUMBO JUMBO LUMUMBA" while white nations dance the tune.

With this possible prospect facing us, how can Messrs. Eisenhower, Nixon and Kennedy want to repeal the Connally Reservation?

Strength Essential To Deter Kremlin Nixon Tells 9,000

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Vice

President Richard M. Nixon moves his presidential campaign from Pennsylvania into Michigan today, cautioning the voters against being "knocked off balance" by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit.

"I know this man," Nixon said of the Soviet leader in a speech Monday night to a big crowd that stood in the rain to cheer him in Wilkes-Barre's city square.

To upwards of 9,000 cheering well-wishers jammed into the Scranton Armory, he added: "Knowing the men in the Kremlin as I do, strength is absolutely essential if we are to deter them from their policy of world domination."

He promised if elected, to give high priority to legislation providing help for depressed areas like the hard hit coal regions of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Nixon said the depressed areas will be the Democrats passed at the last session—and which President Eisenhower vetoed—was a political pork barrel measure which "no responsible president" could approve.

Instead of providing adequate relief for areas like Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, the GOP nominee said, it provided a lot more money for "places that did not need this sort of help. They (the Democrats) used a shotgun, instead of a rifle."

Taking note of Khrushchev's arrival in the United States for the United Nations session, Nixon said there are those "who are arrogant and immature" who will say, "Oh, my, something is wrong with the United States" because of something Khrushchev will say or do.

He went on to say: "We are stronger militarily, stronger economically, stronger morally and spiritually, and we are not to be shaken or lose our nerve or be knocked off balance by anything he says or does."

The crowd that turned out in Wilkes-Barre at the airport and along the speaking and parade route was estimated by police and firemen at 20,000, despite the rain and the fact that he was an hour late flying in from Washington to open the second week of his intensive campaign.

The vice president is striking into eight states this week on a 4,000-mile campaign trip, but following a schedule less exhausting than the 15-state, 9,000-mile swing of last week. His doctor, Malcolm Todd of Long Beach, Calif., ordered him to ease up.

Rare Sax Mistakenly Put Into Incinerator

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 100-year-old saxophone, one of the first made by the inventor of the instrument, was destroyed here when a janitor unknowingly stuffed it into a trash incinerator, it was reported Monday.

Fred Hemke, a graduate student at the University of Rochester's Eastman School of Music, said a university janitor mistakenly burned a box containing the saxophone last weekend.

The instrument was made by the Belgian inventor of the saxophone, Antoine Sax, Hemke said. The only other original saxophone is in a Paris museum, he said.

The gold lacquered instrument was worth $3,000 to $5,000 but was insured, according to Hemke. He said he had borrowed it from the A. & H. Selmer Inc., music firm of Elkhart, Ind., for research on a magazine article and had left it in a professor's office over the weekend.

WATCH FOR ROORBACKS!

Beware of roorbacks. This advice has to be repeated in every presidential campaign. A roorback is a special variety of the false charges that every election sees. It differs from the majority in that it appears such a short time before the November vote that a refutation cannot overtake the original lie.

The name goes back to the 1844 race between James K. Polk and Henry Clay. An anonymously circulated leaflet accused Polk, a Tennessee slaveholder, of selling his Negroes to the Deep South, where they had been found, branded with the initials J.K.P. The authority given was a supposed book of American travel by a German Baron von Roorback. There was no such baron and no such volume, and the charge was a lie. It may have served to turn votes from Polk, but not enough to defeat him.

The next roorback of importance appeared in 1880. This was the so-called Morey letter falsely accusing James A. Garfield, the Republican nominee, of favoring the unlimited importation of Chinese coolies. Too near election to have the denial catch up with the charge, the letter was probably the chief reason why California went Democratic. It did not succeed, however, in defeating Garfield.

This campaign has already witnessed the circulation of much defamatory literature. Thus far there has been time to point out its falsity. As the election approaches, the voter would do well not to believe any charge made only a few days before the vote. It might be true, but its lateness would make it highly suspect.

NAME WITH PRESTIGE

Ohio Republicans, casting about for a new state party leader, are reported to be focusing hopefully on Robert Taft, Jr. The son of the late Mr. Republican looks like his father and shows promise of developing intellectual qualities similar to those which made the senator one of his generation's outstanding statesmen.

The younger Taft has another quality that may help. One reporter put it this way: "His brown eyes have the same determination that characterized his father." Thus far his determination has carried him to the state legislature. His career is certain to be observed with interest, especially by national Republican leaders. They well know how valuable to their cause a worthy son of one of the party's greats could be in the years ahead.

HOW'S THAT, AGAIN?

It is no overstatement to say that our relations with Cuba are looking pretty dismal. But the situation does sometimes seem to have its ridiculous aspects.

At the meeting of the Inter-American Economic Conference in Bogota, Colombia, Cuba's economic minister Regino Boti, in a 40-minute speech, lashed out at American aid to Latin America as a swindle and a tool of imperialist aggression.

However, he told newsmen later, Cuba would be willing to accept U.S. aid, if no conditions were attached.

Pardon us, senor, if we scratch our heads.

NO PLACE TO HIDE

Kotzebue, north of the Arctic Circle, will soon be equipped with phones—in color, yet—by the Trans-Alaska Telephone Co. This Eskimo village will then be the northernmost telephone point on the North American continent.

It's getting harder and harder to get away from it all—to get some place where you can't be reached by the office.

FINE FOR LEARNING

Traffic fines of some $6,500 collected on the Florida State University campus last year will help provide scholarships for 69 students this fall.

Such use of the money is a "fine" way to both teach some lessons and to provide lessons for those who are eager to be taught.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

OUR CUBAN AMBASSADORS

Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith testifying under oath before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on the subject of his relations with the State Department concerning Castro:

"We refused to sell arms to a friendly government, and we persuaded other friendly governments not to sell arms to Cuba. Yet on the other hand revolutionary sympathizers were delivering arms, bodies and ammunition daily from the United States. We were lax in enforcing our neutrality laws."

Senator Eastland, To Castro.

"Mr. Smith, Yes, sir, to revolutionaries under Castro."

"Senator Eastland, You had been warning the State Department that Castro was a Marxist?"

"Mr. Smith, Yes, sir."

The story of the 15 planes recalls the State Department interference with arms shipments to Chiang Kai-shek while it was made easy for the Chinese Communists to arm themselves with the arms of the defeated Japanese. Smith's testimony is:

"I received instructions to tell Batista that we could make delivery of those 15 planes. I recall this very clearly because I remember that it was received with great pleasure by the Government of Cuba . . ."

"Shortly thereafter, before the planes could be delivered, the kidnapping of the Americans took place. I received instructions to notify the Batista government that the 15 training planes could not be delivered because the United States feared that bodily harm might come to the Americans who were kidnapped."

"I conveyed this information to the President of Cuba, informed him that this was only a temporary suspension for the reasons outlined above. When the kidnapped Americans were returned, I sent numerous telegrams urging delivery of the training planes."

"The subject was carried on for approximately two or three months, trying to obtain these training planes for the Batista government; not that the training planes themselves were so important to the Batista government, but because of the psychological effect it would have upon those associated with the Government of Cuba."

"However, the State Department refused to grant permission to have these planes released from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they were based."

Smith's testimony established the point beyond question that it was the United States through the State Department that brought Castro to power. Time after time, he was questioned with regard to that and always it was clear that Assistant Secretary of State Roy Rubottom and William A. Weiland, the deskman in charge of Cuba, preferred Castro.

Regarding Castro, Ambassador Smith testified:

"Castro was a revolutionary and a terrorist. From the time that he was a university student, he was a gun-toter. I was informed by a diplomat that he had killed one nun and two priests in Bogota during the uprising in 1948."

"I checked very carefully into Mr. Castro's background shortly after I was there and talked to people in Cuba who were anti-Batista but who knew Castro well . . ."

"There was no question that Castro was a revolutionary and a terrorist but whether he started out as a Communist or not, I doubt . . . But his brother Raul was different; 'Che' Guevara was different and is a Marxist. I do not think there is any question or doubt about their Marxist theories."

"But Fidel Castro did make a number of statements at Costa Rica and out of Mexico which clearly showed his Marxist line of thinking. He was also an active member, as a student, of the FEU (a radical group) . . ."

"Mr. Sourwine, Is there any doubt in your mind that the Cuban Government, under Castro, is a Communist government?"

"Mr. Smith, Now?"

"Mr. Sourwine, Yes."

"Mr. Smith, I would go further. I believe it is becoming a satellite."

"Senator Dodd, You mean a Communist satellite?"

"Mr. Smith, A Communist satellite. . . ."

Ambassadors Gardner and Smith did not mince words. Their accusations were direct. No appropriate or full defense has come from the State Department except Secretary of State Herter's expression of surprise. Ambassador Smith made the point that policy is made by the lower echelons of the State Department; that the top men on the "Fifth Floor" often do not know about the decisions until after they have become accomplished facts. The "Fourth Floor" needs investigation.

The fact of the matter is that Red China must be recommended for admission to the United Nations by the Security Council before the General Assembly can approve. Neither action is likely. So Khrushchev is raising the question simply for propaganda pressure.

THE REALLY IMPORTANT QUESTIONS before the General Assembly—not the power struggle between Communist and non-Communist worlds—include these agenda items:

Further consideration of the disarmament question. Suspension of nuclear weapons testing. Effects of atomic radiation. Peaceful uses of atomic energy. Report of the committee on peaceful uses of outer space.

Any new proposals on these subjects made to the General Assembly by Eisenhower, Khrushchev on any of the other heads of government or delegates may change completely the course of debate and committee action for the session.

Maintenance of U. N. Emergency Forces in the Congo presents the General Assembly with a tough nut to crack.

If the Security Council does not recognize the Kasavubu or the Lumumba faction as being able to establish stable government that would entitle The Congo to U. N. membership, forces might have to stay in The Congo indefinitely.

The cost of this may run 60 to 70 million dollars a year. This is three times what it costs to maintain the U. N. Emergency Forces on the Israeli-U.A.R. border.

U. N. Secretary Dag Hammarskjold has recommended against establishment of the permanent U. N. police force called for by the U. N. charter, but never agreed to. Long-drawn-out anarchy in The Congo or any other new nation makes this problem all the bigger, necessitating a solution.

MANY U. N. MEMBERS are financially unable to raise their share of the costs. Communist countries don't pay anything.

Cost of the U. N. operation is rising year by year as it takes on new responsibilities. The gross budget for 1961 U. N. organization operations alone is 67 million dollars — four million over 1960.

In addition there will be budgets to approve for special and voluntary programs. This year they have run, in round-number millions of dollars:

For specialized agencies 56, technical cooperation assistance 33, special fund for underdeveloped countries 38, children's emergency fund 25, Palestine relief 32, U. N. emergency forces 20.

With this year's regular U. N. budget of 63 million dollars, the grand total is 267 million. The U. S. share—roughly a third, or $9 million for regular U. N. budgets—has been increased by voluntary contributions to over 100 million.

Now about the horses of the fire department of New York City directly after the Civil War. The horses are never unharassed, but stand in the stable ready for a start. The docility and intelligence of the horses are remarkable. They are fed twice a day, at six in the morning and six at night.

A gong is attached to every stationhouse, and the ringing of that gong is as well understood by the horses as by the men. As soon as it sounds, the horses back with a bound, and tear out of their stalls in a furious manner, rush to their positions at the engine, and are harnessed in an instant, without a word being spoken. If the gong does not sound, the word "back!" produces the same effect.

Further it reads: "When the alarm sounds, the men spring for their caps, the horses rush for their places, and every part of the harness is fastened with a snap, and in 15 seconds from the time the alarm sounds, the men are in their places, horses are harnessed, the driver is in his seat, the fire lighted, and the steamer on its way to the fire. After ten o'clock at night the firemen are allowed to go to bed. A strict watch is kept, and but 30 seconds are needed to arouse, to harness, and to get under way."

"The drivers are forbidden to go beyond a certain speed. The foreman runs on foot before the engine. The driver may keep up with him, but he must not go past him. The horses are groomed with great care, and are daily exercised when not used before the steamer. They are not allowed to be harnessed or rode under the saddle, but must be exercised by walking gently before the engine-house."

Further, "These horses, although fiery and spirited, are so well trained that they will stand all day and night in the midst of the confusion of a fire, the crackling of flames, and the crashing of fallen timber. The chief engineer has to attend all fires. He keeps his horse ready harnessed, and when the alarm

WASHINGTON — (NEA) —

Even if Khrushchev and his satellite pals were not attending, this year's United Nations General Assembly would be the most important in its 15-year history.

The agenda is raised to 86 items by Russia's proposal to admit Red China to the U. N. For the past several years India has proposed this item, but she is now having border troubles with Red China and has lost interest. So Russia itself raises the old bugaboo.

That proposal discounts speculation that one of the main reasons for Khrushchev's summoning of all the Communist bosses is to make a united stand against Red China.

The fact of the matter is that Red China must be recommended for admission to the United Nations by the Security Council before the General Assembly can approve. Neither action is likely. So Khrushchev is raising the question simply for propaganda pressure.

Blunders by Khrushchev Laid to Lack of Diplomacy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What real progress toward world peace could have been made by Nikita Khrushchev if he had been endowed with a fundamental understanding of diplomacy? As it is, he has committed the worst plunders in the history of diplomacy.

One rule, which has behind it centuries of tradition, is that the door is never deliberately closed and that however disturbing the crisis may be, it is wise always to give your opponent an honorable way to continue negotiations.

The Soviet Premier had everything to gain and nothing to lose, before he deliberately scuttled the "Summit" conference at Paris last spring. There was a good chance that he might have gotten a workable agreement on the Berlin problem—a revision of the legal requirements for the four allies—and ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Warren W. Clute Jr. of Watkins Glen, a business executive, was appointed today as a trustee of the State University.

He succeeds Joseph J. Myler of Rochester, whose term expired June 30, 1960.

Clute is president and director of the Watkins Salt Co. and of the Glen National Bank. He holds several other business and civic posts.

The new trustee is a member of the New York State Council of Parks and a former chairman of the Finger Lakes State Council of Parks.

His appointment to the university board of trustees is subject to confirmation by the Senate. The post is unsalaried.

Times Union Promotions

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Daniel E. Button, editor of the editorial page of The Albany Times-Union, has been appointed to the newly created post of executive editor of the morning newspaper.

The appointment was announced Monday by Gene Robb, publisher of the Hearst publication.

Robb also announced the promotions of John J. Leary from Sunday editor to managing editor and Albert J. Bearup from managing editor to associate editor.

Barnett Fowler, city editor, was given the additional job of Sunday editor.

Robert Kennedy Talks

Demand Is Made
Nixon Disavow
Religious Attacks

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—Robert Kennedy demands that Vice President Richard M. Nixon disavow "religious attacks" on his brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy, by two Protestant ministers.

The younger Kennedy, campaign manager for the Democratic presidential nominee, did not elaborate on the attacks he said were made by the Rev. Dr. Daniel A. Poling, a Presbyterian of Philadelphia, and the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, a Methodist of New York City.

Dr. Peale was associated with a Protestant group that questioned whether a Roman Catholic—the Kennedys are Catholics—should be elected president. The minister has since severed connections with the organization.

Robert Kennedy, who spent two days Upstate laying the groundwork for a campaign swing by his brother later this month, answered questions at a news conference and spoke at a Democratic dinner Monday night.

Kennedy was the first to bring up the religious issue at the Schenectady news conference.

In Utica earlier in the day, Kennedy said "it just doesn't make sense to say the Democrats are seeking to keep the religious question alive."

His comment was made to reporters who cited a statement by Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell that the Democrats had refused to let the religious issue die because they wanted to exploit the Catholic vote. Mitchell, a Republican, is a Catholic.

The younger Kennedy also said his brother would continue to answer the religious questions as they arose.

"But we should move on to other and more important issues," he said.

In Schenectady, Kennedy said that, if his brother were elected, he would "violate his oath to God when he swears to uphold the Constitution" if he permitted any outside source to influence his duties as president.

John Kennedy took substantially the same oath when he was sworn in as a naval officer, as a congressman and as a senator, the younger Kennedy said.

Robert Kennedy also visited Gloversville and Johnstown, where he opened a Democratic headquarters.

In World War I, General Galieni used Paris taxicabs to move troops to halt the Germans at the first battle of the Marne.

Use Safety Play to Point Way

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for

The safety play is a close relative of the finesse. The difference is that the safety play is designed to give you as declarer the best possible chance to make a certain specific number of tricks; the finesse is simply designed to give you the best chance to make the maximum number of tricks.

South's four and five no-trump calls were an effort to reach seven, but he stopped at six when his partner showed him just one king.

Playing at seven his best play would be to lead a trump from dummy and finesse with his queen. This would make seven for him against Kx or Kxx in the East hand. Playing at six only, there is a fine safety play.

South should put the ace of trumps on the table. If he drops either the king or jack the rest of the play is obvious. If West shows out, he simply plays East for both the king and jack and makes six. If West follows, he goes out to dummy and leads a trump. If East shows out, he goes down but he never had a

Grant Store Here Has New Manager

G. John Mueffelman has been appointed manager of the W. T. Grant store at 307 Wall Street. Mueffelman comes to his new assignment from the Plainsville Shopping Center store in Hicksville, L. I., where he served as assistant manager. He succeeds Edward C. Monahan, who has been reassigned to manage the Grant store in Newark, N. J.

Mueffelman joined the Grant Company in 1957 as a manager trainee after graduation from Syracuse University. He has served in Grant stores in New Rochelle, Syracuse, Patchogue, Jamaica and Hicksville, and brings an extensive merchandising experience to his new assignment.

Mr. and Mrs. Mueffelman will reside on Lucas Avenue Extension in Kingston with their year-old daughter, Lynn.

New Year Appeal For Israel Bond Program Issued

A New Year's message of greeting to all Jewish families of Kingston and an appeal to take part in the current Kingston State of Israel bond program "to the utmost of our ability" have been issued by three rabbis in the city.

The message bears the signatures of Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom, of Temple Emanuel; Rabbi Jacob I. Rubenstein, Congregation Ahavath Israel, and Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport, Congregation Agudas Achim.

The rabbis, in urging Kingston Jewry to purchase State of Israel bonds, said, "for the past nine years our desire to participate in the historic work of helping to build the new State of Israel has found expression in the Israel bond campaign."

A Partnership Bond

"Through Israel bonds we have entered into a partnership with the people of Israel based on dignity and confidence. There has been a partnership of decisive importance in speeding the economic development of the State of Israel and establishing its firm foundation for growth as a free nation," the rabbis said.

Alfred D. Ronder, general chairman of the Kingston State of Israel bond program, has urged cooperation with the Israel bond effort. He said that Israel bonds may be purchased through any member of the committee or during the High Holy days at any of the Jewish synagogues or temples. The chairman said the Israel bond office is at 286 Clinton Avenue.

Financial Transactions (Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market struggled to find support early this afternoon, backing down irregularly while some big losers regained ground. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down .70 to 209.70 with the industrials of 90, the rails off .50 and the utilities off .40.

Amid a wide scattering of gains, key stocks showed a plurality of losses running from fractions to about a point. Some of the higher-priced stocks which fell sharply in Monday's sell-off recouped a number of points.

The smashing of the 1960 support zone — represented by the lows of March, May and July — meant that the market must form a new base at a lower level, analysts said. The list was groping for this today.

Brokers said quite a number of key stocks apparently looked cheap enough to attract buyers while other issues continued to slide. Some of the leading steels, autos, electrical equipments, utilities and building material issues posted small plus signs. Others in the same groups retreated.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.19 at 385.70. Corporate bonds were somewhat lower on balance. Trading was light.

A three-day rally by U.S. government bonds halted. Prices were unchanged to a bit lower in slow transactions.

Atlas Hits 9,000-Mile Target

Not Sure Whether Cone Survived Trip

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —

The Air Force has proved again that its Atlas missile can hit a target 9,000 miles away. But it does not know if the nose cone survived the super-hot trip back through the earth's atmosphere.

The big intercontinental range rocket Monday covered the 9,000-mile course for the second time, streaking from this test center to a bullseye in the southern Indian Ocean about 1,000 miles southeast of Capetown, South Africa. The two tests—the first by another Atlas on May 20—are the longest surface-to-surface missile flights on record.

A major purpose of the flight was to check changes made in the nose cone's protective surface as developed on the first long-range trip. Telemetry signals showed the magnesium structure of the first cone caught fire and it would not have adequately protected a hydrogen warhead.

Ships and planes stationed in the impact area Monday received telemetry data from the cone as it made a fiery dive back through the earth's atmosphere from an altitude of nearly 1,000 miles.

Education and Taxes

September 14, 1960
Editor, The Freeman:

I hope that you shall be able to print the following letter in one of your daily publications.

Must the American people experience a national disaster before it learns the necessity of sacrificing for survival? This question must be faced squarely by our citizenry and answered in uncompromising terms (such nomenclature is rare in politics). Will we be willing to provide the additional resources to maintain our military posture at a sufficient level?

It seems that the American taxpayer wants to increase expenditures which produce immediate results, and reduce taxes by eliminating expenditures which do not provide immediate and visible benefits. Education is one of the tax areas which does not provide immediate and visible benefits to the average taxpayer. Yet, education (especially in a democracy) is the most vital form of expenditure. But education is expensive, and the process of educating is difficult and many times unpleasant for both the teacher and student.

Funds for education are allocated grudgingly with the emphasis placed on school construction and the like rather than on the intangibles. Investment in felt cushioned seats for Kingston High School's new auditorium is preferred over raising salaries in order to keep and attract qualified teachers in that same school. This is but one of many examples.

If the assumption is made that the majority of voters suffer from myopia, how can we obtain the allocation of the necessary resources to permit our survival? Perhaps we can offset the self-destructive drive for economization in government by educating the voter. However, educating the voter (the nation) comes only from experience. And history tells us that the electorate will be ready to learn its lesson only after a series of disasters. If this be true, we can only hope or pray (for those so inclined) that an opportunity will still exist to redress the balance. I suspect that no such opportunity will exist.

Yours truly,
CRAIG J. SPENCE

1,588 Students Enrolled Locally

A total of 1588 students are enrolled in the four district schools in New Paltz this fall.

The Central School, with its grades one through sixth, junior high, and the high school divisions, together with the Gardiner school with an enrollment of 894. A total of 464 are in the kindergarten through the sixth grade, with 430 in the seventh through twelfth.

The Campus School has an enrollment of 450 which includes nursery school through the ninth grade.

St. Joseph's Parochial School opened with a total of 244 students, an increase of 13 over last September.

There are 50 teachers in the Central School system this year besides those supplied by the Ulster County Board.

Last year's total enrollment was 826.

Scholarship Tests Slated March, 1961

Thomas Benenati, guidance director has announced that all the 1962 graduates of the New Paltz Central School who wish to enter 1961-62 National Merit Scholarship competition should register now at the guidance office. The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given Tuesday, March 7, 1961, at 9 a.m.

To be eligible for this test, students must be second semester juniors or first semester seniors at the time of the test. Students are required to pay a fee on the day of the test. Benenati wishes that any students unable to pay the fee consult him.

The tests are given each year by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation as part of the nation's largest independent scholarship program.

All awards are granted on the basis of intellectual merit, but student financial needs determine the size of individual compensation, which is renewable each year without further examination.

Migrant Chaplain Is Guest at Reception

The Rev. Willis Tabor, migrant chaplain, was recently given a reception at the Grange Hall, Clintondale.

About 40 persons attended the reception from the communities where he will be working. The Rev. Mr. Tabor outlined what he hoped could be accomplished during the short time he will be working in the area.

He will be ministering to the migrants in both religious and social areas according to their needs.

The Rev. Mr. Tabor's home while working in this community will be a trailer on Route 32 just north of the village of New Paltz.

Mum on Financial Aid*Kennedy Is Inept, Unqualified: Hoffa

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa says his Teamsters Union is spending "hundreds of thousands of dollars" to help political candidates—but won't say whom.

"I'm not going to say who we've helped financially," the union chief said Monday, "because you know it would just cause a lot of fuss."

The Democratic presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy, is "totally inept and unqualified," Hoffa said. Asked how he felt about the Republican candidate, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Hoffa commented:

"Well, at least Nixon didn't sponsor bills intended to wreck the labor movement."

Hoffa, blaming Kennedy for passage of the labor-reform Landrum-Griffin Bill, said there would be chaos if Kennedy were elected.

"He showed what type of a leader he is when he couldn't get any legislation passed during the last session of Congress although the Democrats have big majorities in the House and Senate," he asserted.

He said leaders of Teamsters locals from 12 midwest states will meet here Wednesday to plan political strategy. The union lists 1,600,000 members.

West Saugerties Man's Stolen Car Found at Asbury

The 1957 black sedan of Ernest A. Shirmer of West Saugerties, reported missing from his garage early Monday morning, was found smashed against a tree near the intersection of Route 23A and Old King's Highway, Leeds state police reported.

Shirmer reported the car missing to Kingston state police and Saugerties Town Constable Charles Riley at about 7 a. m. Monday. He told police he put the car in his garage about 11 p. m. Sunday.

Constable Riley said the car had been rolled out of the driveway on West Saugerties Road, and apparently the wires were jumped to start the vehicle.

Leeds troopers found the car wrecked against a tree run off the road into the weeds in the Asbury area.

Riley said the right front fender was smashed and the frame bent.

Driver Injured As Bakery Truck Leaves Highway

A bakery truck driver injured Monday afternoon when his truck ran off the Samsonville Road near Olive Bridge, is reported in fair condition at Kingston Hospital today.

Alfred Rose, 41, of 65 Amsterdam Avenue, a partner in the firm of Spiesman's Specialty Bakeries Inc., 39 East Union Street, was driving one of the company's trucks when it left the road, hit two trees, went down an embankment and overturned, troopers said.

According to Trooper H. S. Rhodes, the driver crawled out of the vehicle. He suffered lacerations of the head, left leg and arm, the trooper said.

Trooper Rhodes administered first aid at the scene until Fatum's Ambulance arrived. The mishap occurred about 1:30 p. m.

Military Offers Best Church Ties Ever, He Claims

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Greek Orthodox chaplain says this country's armed forces now offer American servicemen the strongest religious and character-building program in service history.

He spoke at the 15th biennial congress of the Greek Orthodox Church of North & South America Monday.

Testimony Gives Little Data on Rocky Bank Ties

NEW YORK (AP) — Lead-off testimony in a bank suit in the State Supreme Court has done little to clear up the question of whether Gov. Rockefeller's banking interests—if any—are direct or indirect.

One of the first witnesses at the opening of the trial Monday was Laurence Rockefeller, one of the governor's brothers.

The suit was brought by the Franklin National Bank, a Long Island institution, which seeks to void a new state law which permits New York City banks to establish branches in suburban Westchester and Nassau counties.

Franklin National contends the law is unconstitutional and discriminatory and would deprive Franklin National of its property rights without due process.

Another allegation in the complaint is that Gov. Rockefeller was "disqualified" to sign the new law because of his "direct or indirect interest in various banking organizations."

Laurence Rockefeller testified that he and his four brothers, including the governor, are stockholders in Rockefeller Center Inc. and the Hills Realty Co.

The witness said under cross examination that to the best of his knowledge the real estate firm does not own stock in the First National City Bank. He said he did not know how many shares of Chase Manhattan Bank stock are held by the real estate firm.

Howard Hilton Spellman, counsel to Franklin National, called Laurence Rockefeller as a witness.

Chief defense counsel against the suit is Raphael P. Koenig, representing State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

Mouths His Usual Spiel*Nikita Makes Like Captured Soldier in Speech at Dock

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Just give your name, rank and serial number."

This instruction to soldiers if captured by an enemy, to avoid disclosure of vital information, was followed pretty much Monday by Premier Nikita Khrushchev who wasn't captured but landed in unfriendly country.

The round Russian, as soon as he reached New York for today's session of the United Nations Assembly, whipped out a 1,500-word prepared statement and began reading on the dock beside the ship which brought him.

Just a Restatement

When he was through he hadn't really disclosed much. He gave his name and rank. But the rest of what he said was simply a restatement of what was already known: he wanted to talk disarmament.

What else he'll try to do he kept to himself. The fact that he is accompanied by the Communist chieftains of all the Russian satellites indicates the pitch he makes in the United Nations will be out of the ordinary.

Khrushchev, who insulted President Eisenhower last May in the breakup of the summit conference, took another swipe at him but still left the door open for them to get together in New York. He said that if Eisenhower—scheduled to address the U.N. Thursday—doesn't make a "fancy speech" but wants to talk serious about disarmament and peace, that's all to the good.

He seemed to be cold-shouldering the President when he then went on to say "I would like to voice the profound respect I feel toward the entire American people."

Leaves Ike Out

He could have paid this tribute to Eisenhower and the American people. But he didn't mention the President in this expression of feeling of "profound respect."

Earlier this year Khrushchev was on a campaign of belittlement of Eisenhower who now shows no intention of having direct dealings with the Russian again.

Last June 3 he said that when Eisenhower leaves the White House "we could make him an orphanage director: 'I am sure he will not hurt the children.' The same day he referred to the President as 'weak-kneed.'

Since more than 20 heads of foreign governments will be at the United Nations this week—giving Khrushchev the greatest world forum he has ever enjoyed—he can be counted on to make the most of it.

Although he repudiated in his dock-side speech the idea he was coming here to make Soviet propaganda, his every move and word will be just that, no matter how good his intentions.

It will probably take two weeks to find out why Khrushchev really came here. The two weeks may become a propaganda circus.

Freighter Goes Aground When It Is Low on Fuel

OLCOTT, N.Y. (AP)—A tugboat was on hand today to greet a 200-foot Canadian freighter run aground in a shallow harbor near this Lake Ontario community.

The Conrad Marie, outbound from Buffalo with 650 tons of flour, touched bottom in 10 feet of water Monday near an abandoned small boat pier.

Capt. Euclide Bouchard of Baie St. Paul, Que., said he tried to warn the ship of the shallow harbor by radio but couldn't be understood by the French-speaking crew.

New Engine Developed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Development of a liquid fluorine-hydrogen rocket engine that is expected to allow a doubling of present space payloads was announced Monday by Bell Aerosystems Corp.

The engine, propelled by liquid fluorine and hydrogen, is designed for the upper stages of space vehicles, Bell said.

Will Inspect Locks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The annual fall inspection of jocks in the State Barge Canal System will begin Thursday and continue through Oct. 10.

Traffic Problems Will be Aired At Parley Thursday

City traffic problems are due for discussion Thursday morning by a representative of the American Automobile Association, of New York, Mayor Edwin F. Radel, other officials, and representatives of the city's three business associations.

Moving traffic and the city's parking problems will be discussed at the session slated to begin at 10:30 a.m. in the mayor's office.

Paul Petrillo, of the AAA, is scheduled to conduct the discussion which will deal with many phases of moving traffic and parking. It will include airing of such requests as that made recently by North Front Street merchants to restore two-way traffic over the length of that street.

The uptown one-way traffic system resulted of an AAA study during the administration of former Mayor Frederick H. Stang. It is expected that details of that system will be discussed and probably new recommendations made.

The mayor said the AAA representative was invited here on request of the merchants.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME (Registered U.S. Patent Office) By JIMMY HATLO*HOW TO BE READY FOR COLLEGE WHEN YOUR CHILDREN ARE

A suggestion that may help you meet the rising costs of education

Putting your children through college is more expensive than it used to be. In the last twenty years, the cost of a college education has generally doubled. Some say it's going to rise just as fast in the years ahead.

Perhaps the next few paragraphs will help you to meet such costs.

A second income that can grow

There's a kind of income that has a chance to grow over the years. It comes from dividends on good stock. When you own stock, you're part owner of a company. You can share in any profits. And share in any growth through possible increase in dividends. Lots of people find tuition bills easier to pay today because they began acquiring good stock when their children were young.

You don't have to be an expert to invest

Today there are more than 12,500,000 shareowners. Nearly half earn from $5,000 to $10,000 a year. Practically all began investing very modestly. And you could hardly call them experts. The important thing is to follow a few simple rules. Remember that prices go down as well as up. Use only money not needed for daily expenses or to provide for emergencies. Bear in mind that there are bad investments as well as good. So get facts—never depend on mere tips or rumors.

Where to get responsible advice and help

Not far from you there's almost sure to be a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Make it your headquarters for investing. The people who will help you there have met the Exchange's requirements for knowledge and integrity. Ask their opinion about the more stable income that bonds usually provide. You might want to consider both stocks and bonds when you're planning for college expenses.

What to do right now

You'll enjoy our wonderfully helpful free booklet, "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." It lists stocks that have paid progressively higher dividends in recent years. It gives the records of more than 400 stocks that have paid a cash dividend each year from 25 to 112 years. And it describes the very convenient Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock in famous companies by investing with as little as $40 every three months, up to $1,000 a month.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Industrial output continues its mild sag, and guesses are divided as to whether it has touched bottom for the year.

For every new weakness turning up in the economy, observers usually can point to a still sturdy factor. And die-hard optimists say it's much too early to write off the traditional fall upturn.

Latest Federal Reserve Board figures put the industrial production index at 109 per cent of the 1957 average. This is comforting better than the 104 per cent registered in August 1959 — until you remember that the 1959 figure represents the depths of the steel strike.

The historic peak of 111 was reached in January when almost everyone had his eye on the much touted Golden Sixties. With slight bobbles in May and July the downturn has been slow but steady since the booming early days of the year. That it has been only slow has been reassuring to those who hope for only a mild business dip before another upturn.

Getting away from the statistics, what the industrial index downturn means is: Plant shutdowns, layoffs or shorter work weeks in some industries, piling up of unsold stocks, cutbacks in new orders while companies tighten their inventory practices.

And the companions of the statistics are: Weakness in stock prices, slowdown in the increase in personal income totals, stubbornly high totals of unemployed.

ment, postponement of business plans for expansion and to some extent for modernization, and most closely watched of all—some apparent changing in consumer buying confidence.

All of this is why more than usual attention is being paid to the Federal Reserve Board's views on how this month is shaping up and to any signs of upturn in the near future.

Much of the blame for the August drop in the index went to the still slumbering steel industry. But the Federal Reserve emphasizes that strikes here and there contributed to it, and these strikes crippled output and distribution in the early days of September.

They are now over, and some slight betterment is expected this month. Still further gains in steel output are looked for in October—but only slight gains and less than might be expected for the time of the year.

Then the finger is pointed at the auto industry. Here there are two big uncertainties. One is how many of the remaining 1960 models the consumers will remove from dealers' stocks; the other is how the motoring public will take to the 1961 models now in the wings.

Few look for any real comeback in the index this month—maybe a little recovery in October.

A delicately balanced economy is a troublesome thing—for economists, for businessmen, for workers, and, of course, for politicians.

In Turkey, "lady's thigh" is a meatball concoction, while "lady's navel" and "beauty's lips" are fancy pastries.

Philharmonic Subscription Campaign Now Underway; Junior League Makes Donation

Twenty-eight school concerts will be given this year in Kingston under the sponsorship of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, as a direct result of a $2,450 donation made last week by the Junior League of Kingston to the Society.

Mrs. Amos Newcombe, chairman of in-school concerts for the Society, accepted the donation from Mrs. Robert MacKinnon, League president.

The Philharmonic Society is now in the midst of its subscription campaign throughout the county. Leo Kilcoyne is vice chairman of the campaign.

On Monday, Sept. 12, Claude Monteux, conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra, described his symphony to board directors as a dynamic organization able to meet professional standards.

WHAT SHOULD A CUSTOMER DO?

Dear Mrs. Post: What should a customer do in a department store when a salesgirl says, "I'll be with you in just a minute" and in the meantime another salesgirl comes over and offers to wait on her? Is it proper to accept the help of the second salesgirl or should she wait for the first salesgirl to return? In my opinion, she should wait for the first salesgirl to return and that it is extremely discourteous to her, not to. A friend of mine disagrees with me on this point. I would very much like to know what is proper in this situation.

Answer: As the customer's time for shopping may very well be limited and there is no knowing how long the first salesgirl's "in just a minute" will actually be, there is no reason not to accept the help of the second.

Meeting Her Boy Friend's Parents

Dear Mrs. Post: When I meet my boy friend's parents, and on this first occasion have dinner at their house and spend part of the day, shall I write his mother a thank-you note afterward? Or would it perhaps seem overdone to write her since I believe you have said a thank-you note is required only after staying overnight.

Answer: No thank-you note will be expected, but you must thank his parents when you leave. Say something like, "I've enjoyed so much meeting you and spending the day with you. Thank you for inviting me and for the delicious dinner."

Thanking A Group for Flowers

Dear Mrs. Post: When a group sends flowers to a funeral (all names listed on the card), should each person be sent an individual note of thanks or is one note to the group as a whole, sufficient?

Answer: If the group is a small one of four or five persons, each one should be sent a note, but if it is larger, one note thanking the group as a whole is sufficient.

'Women Hold Balance of Power at Polls' Says Leading Republican at County Meeting

Three million more women than men will vote in the November election this year it was stressed at the first fall meeting of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The speaker was Mrs. Thomas F. Thornton of Albany, whose topic was "Women's Role in Politics." She is secretary to Richard Roth, director of information and research for Senate Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo.

Three million more women than men will vote in November, she said, urging the members of the club that "we must stop and think before we vote as to who is best qualified to hold the reins of government in these crucial times."

She pointed to the active part played by Vice President Nixon in the Eisenhower administration, mentioning his trips to Russia and South America especially in the interest of promoting world peace. The speaker urged support of his candidacy for the Presidency, and also that of his running-mate Henry Cabot Lodge, whose seven years as ambassador to the United Nations were spent in preserving the standing of the United States as the champion of peace in the world.

Mrs. Thornton further emphasized accomplishments of Republicans in government as pictured in the film about Governor Rockefeller, Lieutenant Governor Malcolm Wilson and Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz. The film will be shown in Ulster County during the next month.

Aside from her position as secretary in the state office, Mrs. Thornton is vitally interested in politics. She is second vice president of Republican Women of the Legislature, and the organization's director in the Third Judicial District. Mrs. Thornton is also a committeewoman in Albany's 18th ward.

Commentator for the evening will be Mrs. Dorothy Narel, society editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman, who will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Amelie Altamari of the Altamari Studio of Music.

One of the highlights of the evening will be the awarding of a natural ranch mink collar and an original hat designed by a local milliner.

Chairman of the event is Miss Joan L. Woynoski and co-chairman is Miss Ellen Netter. Members of the committee include Mrs. Thomas Joy, Mrs. Robert Slover, Mrs. Michael Flanagan and Mrs. Fred Miller. Refreshments will be served with Mrs. Rosemary Grimaldi acting as chairman and Mrs. Viola Haggerty, Miss Mary Keating, Mrs. Arlene Duffy and Mrs. Antoinette Weber serving as her committee. The fashion show is scheduled for 8 o'clock and the public is cordially invited. Proceeds will be donated to the Academy.

P-TA, School 5 To Hear Lecture On Delinquency

George E. Twine, resident director of the Wiltwyck School for Boys, Inc., Esopus, will speak about juvenile delinquency at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association, School No. 5 on Wednesday at 8 p.m. His address will center around the causes in a community that bring about juvenile delinquency. Mr. Twine will also indicate problems that tend to promote juvenile delinquency.

In the past 17 years, Mr. Twine has been active in many civic organizations including P-TA. He completed his undergraduate studies at Lincoln University, Pa., and his graduate studies at Teachers' College, Columbia University and the New York School of Social Work.

In making the announcement, Robert Schwenk, president of the P-TA, at School No. 5, also announced that Mr. Twine has had considerable experience in working with underprivileged children and in general social work. For the past year and a half he has been resident director of the Wiltwyck School. Prior to his appointment, he served as director of the Community Center in Greenwich, Conn., and as director of the Morningside Community Center, New York City, working with underprivileged children in that area.

Mrs. Mary Danford presented the membership chairman, Mrs. Ruth Fishkin, and program chairman, Mrs. Maude Bunting.

The next meeting of A.C.E. will be held Wednesday, Oct. 19 at 7:45 in the George Washington School. A lecture and demonstration on "Creative Dancing," will be given by Mrs. Mary Jane Wolbers.

Cosmetologist Completes Study

Mrs. Adeline Erena, cosmetologist for Wonderly Company, has returned from a special training school in New York City where she studied up-to-date techniques of skin care and make-up.

Mrs. Erena hand-blends the cosmetics and indicates that this year will be very successful.

The programs for the coming meetings will present a variety of interesting topics including hair styling, art, interior decorating, children's parties, natural childbirth, Swedish weaving, and European travel.

Also planned are the annual husband's night supper with entertainment by the Kingston Barber Shop Quartet, a club auction, a spring card party and two dinners.

Mrs. Erena is a local boy and is cordially invited to attend Open House, 2-9 p.m.

The YWCA, a Red Feather agency, is located at 209 Clinton Avenue.

Junior Marries Announce Programs; Open House Is Set

The initial meeting of the Junior Married Women's Club was held on Thursday, Sept. 15. The year's program as outlined by Mrs. William Keith, program chairman, was enthusiastically accepted by the club members.

Mrs. Mary Danford presented the membership chairman, Mrs. Ruth Fishkin, and program chairman, Mrs. Maude Bunting.

The next meeting of A.C.E. will be held Wednesday, Oct. 19 at 7:45 in the George Washington School. A lecture and demonstration on "Creative Dancing," will be given by Mrs. Mary Jane Wolbers.

All members and friends are invited to attend this most interesting meeting.

Saul Says:

A vital part of any sale, whether it's a horse or a house, a table—or a tire—is that hidden ingredient—the integrity of the seller.

Long after the price is forgotten, the honesty and straight-forwardness of the seller are remembered. At the time of the sale that quality was a hidden factor—"I like to do business with him—he's a local boy—a natural reaction . . . and a logical one.

When buying tires that "hidden ingredient" counts—it means you have faith in the word of your tire dealer. Colonial Tire Company is a Kingston-born business—owned and operated by people you know—neighbors, as it were. We believe that's one reason why we see so many familiar faces in here every day. It's nice that way because there's an added pleasure in knowing you are serving friends and neighbors honestly and giving them a square deal all around.

AMERICAN MENU*Good Meals, Not Starving, Help Teens Control Weight

Food, not starvation, is the basis for any weight loss program you will stick to. That goes for every member of the family. Right now, when the new school year begins, teen-age girls should be reminded that sensible eating is the surest way of controlling their weight.

Teen-agers have great need for calories at this actively growing period. In an important new book on overweight problems, "The Safe and Sure Way to Reduce," Dr. W. H. Sebrell Jr., director of the Institute of Nutrition Sciences at Columbia University, is quoted as follows: "The major problem in leading teen-age girls into correct eating habits that will help them grow strong but not fat is to guide their choice of high calorie foods to those that contain large amounts of protein and other nutrients as well as calories. For example as snacks, drinks with a milk base are better than cola drinks, peanut butter sandwiches better than potato chips, cheeseburgers better than candy bars."

Dr. Sebrell warns parents that the tendency to skip breakfast by fat teen-agers is dangerous to their health and is not the way to help them lose weight. A breakfast of fruit or fruit juice, cereal with milk, two slices of bread and a glass of milk provide a nutritious teenage breakfast, especially when an egg or a slice of ham is added. No matter how overweight a teen-ager is, he (or she) must eat a balanced breakfast that amounts to from one-third to one-fourth of his total daily food.

Further, in "The Safe and Sure Way to Reduce," he advises parents that even though a child is fat, he or she must eat some food from each of these four groups every day:

1. Meat Group—Two or more servings every day of beef, veal, lamb, pork, variety meats (liver, heart, kidney), poultry, eggs, fish and shellfish. As alternatives, dry beans and peas, lentils, nuts, peanut butter. All these provide protein for growth, iron and B vitamins.

2. Milk Group—Milk and milk products. (For fat teen-agers he suggests non-fat dry milk or skim milk.)

3. Vegetable-Fruit Group—Four or more servings a day, with at least one serving from orange and grapefruit for essential vitamin C. The more dark green and yellow the vegetables, the better.

TEEN-AGER Dorothy Gault, a high school student and model, has to watch her weight, but never skips a good breakfast.

4. Bread and Cereal Group—Four or more servings of whole grain or enriched or restored cereals including breads, cooked or ready-to-eat cereals, macaroni, rice, noodles. These foods provide food energy, plus liberal amounts of protein, iron, several B vitamins.

Dorothy Gault, a 15-year-old sophomore at a Chicago high school, is an example of the soundness of Dr. Sebrell's advice. She eats lots of the foods, yet is trim, vital and seemingly never tired. She is a teen-age model for professional photographers, a science major at school, honorary captain of her school's R.O.T.C., reporter for the school paper and member of the junior honor society.

What does the vibrant weight-watching schoolgirl-model eat and still remain slender? "I never skip breakfast," she said. "It's usually ready-to-eat cereal with brown sugar and milk, topped with sliced banana." School lunches are too greasy. So I take mine to school—carrot and celery sticks, Melba toast or rye wafers, cold meat, sometimes cheese, and fruit. Our dinners are generally built around meat, vegetables, salads and simple desserts. We drink non-fat milk at home, now."

And what snacks does she eat on dates? "Oh, that's easy," said the queen of her school's last Military Ball. "I have a pizza, hamburger or a Sloppy Joe. Then next day I just cut down on the amount of food I eat."

Dorothy Gault Sloppy Joes

(Yield: about 3½ cups, 6 to 8 servings)

One tablespoon fat, ½ cup chopped onion, ¼ cup finely diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper (if desired), 1½ pounds ground beef, 2 cans (8-ounce) tomato sauce, ½ cup water, ½ cup rolled oats, quick or regular; ¾ cup commercial barbecue sauce, 1½ teaspoons salt, dash of liquid smoke, if desired.

Melt fat in fry pan. Add vegetables and cook slowly until onions are limp. Add beef and brown lightly. Stir in remaining ingredients; cook over low heat until beef is done and mixture is the desired consistency. Serve hot on buns.

Tomorrow's Dinner: Sloppy Joes on hot buns, potato chips, cabbage and green pepper salad, fresh fruit cup, butterscotch almond cookies, coffee, tea, milk.

Foundation's Annual Show Proves Another Smash Hit

Even though the Woodstock Foundation's annual production "Way Out There" defied theatrical traditions and opened with its "finale", it wound up "way up there" as a delightful melange of comedy, satire, buffoonery and music blended with some superlative histrionics.

Packed houses Friday and Saturday nights applauded the efforts of the area's talented amateur thespians and entertainers and the 1960 production will be written into the record books as one of the most entertaining in the long history of the Foundation.

It would be difficult to single out any one skit among the 20 or more as "the very best" of the night. In many cases it would be gilding the lily, while overlooking heroic efforts on the part of others. Suffice to say it was a superb production which reflected great credit on Ernie Ward, the driving dynamo behind the whole project. Ward is a multi-talented young man who writes, directs and acts with charming ease.

Kudos also go to Al Darnovsky, Walter Balk and Don McIsaac, who assisted in writing the production; to Alexander Semmler, Darnovsky and Barbara Moncure for original music; to Ward, Mrs. Moncure and Darnovsky for the lyrics. Margie Grant was the production co-ordinator, with the appealing stage settings by Haschi Marek and lighting by Bob Johnson.

Mullers Applauded

The talented Harrison and Pat Muller drew heavy applause for their dance routine, while top individual contributions were made by Barbara Moncure, Edward Chavez, Paul Hamilton, who sang "The House I Live In"; John Pike in another moving pantomime; Kiki Godwin, who exudes stage charm; Don McIsaac, in a droll takeoff on those $100 sang traditional Mexican ballads and Kiki sang a solo, number "Everything I Breathe" which highlighted the despairing philosophy of a vacationing miss who is tormented by persistent sniffs and a roving boy friend. Miss Moncure's "Pablo Picasso Blues" featured original music by her and lyrics by Alf Evers and had a painting by Ra'nh Scarlet and was Miss Moncure at her best.

Carl Cordon, a titan among area thespians, and charming Barbara McGrath lent their not inconsiderable talent to several amusing skits which spoofed his music, politics, and the space age era. Jules Viglielmo as "Al Capone" and one of the seven astronauts came off very well, as usual. Bill West, who has the touch of the old medicine man on stage, was also a pleasure to watch.

Blackout Click

"Bar Blackouts" with a large cast was a fast moving blackout that earned heavy applause. A class room idyll entitled "Psychoanalysis, Anyone?" with Sara Frank Nazarro and Dick Jones were bar concessionaires, while the bar maids corps included: Fran Trnka, Delores Fredericks, Marge Wells, Eleanor Hamilton, Shirley Cowell, Kari Singsass, Joe Murphy, Aris Piatzman, Ted Goddard, Gordon Taylor, and Art Gran. The ushers were Priscilla Melville, Lillian Melville, Jean Orten and Maye Andersen.

John Pike created the attractive cover for the program and Robert Angeloch was in charge of poster printing. Musical assistance was given by Dorothy Narel, Robert Hessenauer, Mrs. Richard Breen and Charles Kullman.

Foundation president, Ruth Tuck, and Bill Hand were in charge of tickets and refreshments; Pat Burke, posters; Earle Fichte, photographs; music, Harry Maisenhelder and his band; costumes, Clarisse Leavy; makeup, Marion Greco and Rev. Lloyd Uyeki; box office, William Hand; publicity, Charles J. Tiano; assistant stage manager, Dick Gustin.

Convention Report

Mrs. Kay Dubois, delegate to the American Legion Auxiliary state convention, gave a splendid report on the session held in Buffalo last month and expressed her appreciation to the unit for being elected delegate and able to attend this convention.

Miss Alana Styles, Junior member, was awarded first prize by Mrs. Ethel Hasbrouck, Coupon chairman, for obtaining the most coupons this year and Miss Lillian Melville, also a Junior member, received second prize.

Mrs. Novak, the retiring president, gave the annual president's report on activities over the past year. The Past President's pin was presented to Mrs. Novak by Mrs. Coty. Gifts were also presented to Mrs. Coty, Miss Peper, treasurer, and Mrs. Kay Robertello, retiring secretary.

Attending the dinner were four junior members; also new members for the coming year, who were introduced. Mrs. Helen Oakley, past president of the Ulster County American Legion Auxiliary was also present. The next meeting will be held Oct. 4 at 8 p.m.

League Women At UN Session

Five women from the League of Women Voters of Woodstock—Mrs. Jack Garside, Mrs. Earl Buten, Mrs. Walter Balk, Mrs. Lawrence Walker and Miss Florence Hubbard—were part of all of the excitement and tension at the United Nations on Monday.

They attended the all day institute on World Development and United States economic policies at the World Development Affairs Center at the United Nations. Among other personalities, they heard Richard N. Garner, author of "New Directions in Foreign Policy" discuss Problems in Economics at Home and Abroad; and Paul Hoffman, director of the U.N. Special Fund, talk about the U.N. and World Development.

This was indeed a great experience and privilege for these members of the Current Agenda Workshop of the League, and their reports at a general meeting will be of interest to all. Such contacts and sources of information are but part of what the League of Women Voters has to offer each member toward becoming a better informed citizen and for us all. Because in many of these paintings, although a number are unfinished, she was not only reaching out, she was finding; she was finding those strange relationships of color and forms that give to the beholder unwordable sensations that reflect an inner passion of an artist.

Perhaps this artist had not found herself completely, but what artist has ever found himself completely in the short number of years allotted to his life. In a number of her paintings there are no recognizable objects. These particular paintings seem to construct the inner landscape of Ann Kopp and reflect the rich color of her nature. In other paintings she adds this nature of herself to more objective forms. The large unfinished painting of a nude shows her poetic ability to form new rhythms of a much painted theme. The few pieces of sculpture in the exhibition show ability and artistry; but it is the energy, sensitivity and the humanness of Ann Kopp's painting that will always remain with us. . . . ARNOLD BLANCH.

Taxpayer Group To Hear Speech On Association

The Willow, Lake Hill, Shady Taxpayers Association has announced that J. C. van Rijn will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held in the new Lake Hill fire house on Route 212.

James McVitty, program chairman, has invited all members of the Will-La-Shay Club, the Lake Hill Sportsmen's Club and the Lake Hill Fire Company to attend as guests of the taxpayers organization.

Van Rijn will speak in behalf of the Woodstock Association and will stress the aims of the group and the progress it has thus far made. Of special interest will be the work now contemplated under the Woodstock Tree Trust. Van Rijn will be accompanied by H. E. Landis Jr., Alvin Moscovitz, Elbert Varney and Mrs. Reginald Wilson, all members of the board of directors of the Woodstock Association.

The work to be done in town planning has many "faces" among them the protection of the aesthetic values of the entire township. A group such as the Woodstock Association can only guide and recommend after fully airing and combining ideas with the public, says a statement from the taxpayers association. For this reason this meeting, the first of three planned in the township, provided the opportunity for the public to express its views and make constructive suggestions for the continued improvement of Woodstock.

Lawrence Casey, president of the Taxpayers Association, extends to all interested residents of the area an invitation to attend the Wednesday night meeting. There will be a brief business meeting preceding van Rijn's talk. Refreshments will be served.

Town Notes

The Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit will sponsor a bus trip to New York, Thursday, Oct. 20. The bus leaves the village green at 8 a.m. and on return leaves New York at 8 p.m. Reservations may be made by calling Elsie Ertz.

Agape Elections

The regular meeting of the Agape Rebekah Lodge No. 623 will be held on Wednesday at the Bearsville lodge hall at 8 p.m. At this time, new officers for the coming year will be elected. Installation of the new officers will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 19.

Mrs. Nora Wolven is recuperating at her home in Woodstock from a recent stay at the Benedictine Hospital.

Not Too Modern

The condensed milk you buy isn't as modern as you think. The first condensed milk plant was established as far back as 1856, in Torrington, Conn. One year later, the first commercial plant was opened in Burville, Conn.

Sales of foods through vending machines run to over $1 billion annually, with another $225 million from candy purchases.

Schuhplattler's Parade In Steuben Day Program

Representing the Kingston Schuhplattler Group, Bavarian folk dancers, in the Steuben Day parade in New York City Saturday were Klaas Ankele and his daughter, Caroline of 147 Henry Street.

The parade is held annually honoring Baron Friedrich Wilhelm August Heinrich Ferdinand von Steuben, drill master to Gen. George Washington's Revolutionary Army.

The two local participants marched as a separate unit with a decorated wagon. The theme of the display was "A Farmer's Boy Coming Down the Mountains."

A milk can donated by Jones Dairy of Kingston was used as a symbol of the Alpine dairy farmers. The display was complete including cobwebs.

Last year several restaurant and resort owners of Ulster County sponsored a float bearing the title, Ulster County, the year Around Vacationland.

Police estimate that 140,000 persons had lined the sidewalks along the parade route on Fifth Avenue.

There are more than 2,000 different candy items in 16 major classifications manufactured in the U.S.

Glancing Over
TV Bill of FareBy CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Sad to relate, the most interesting events Monday night on television, where three programs were bowing in, were the frequent news bulletins about Fidel Castro's lodging problems, which interrupted the scheduled goings-on.

First there was CBS' "Pete and Gladys," one of those people-next-door situation comedies which sprang, fully armed and unashamed, from the brow of "December Bride."

You remember Pete, who is still wandering into Spring Byington's living room on the reruns and saying wry things. Well, they've given him a cute little wife—Gladys never showed up in the parent series—and he's moved so he can have a new set of neighbors. If you enjoyed "December Bride," you'll like this.

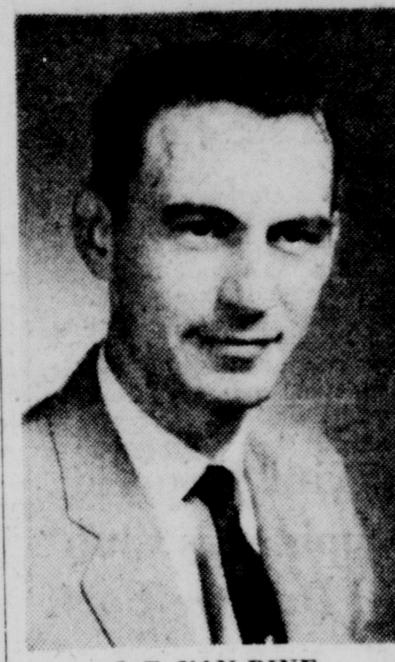

Barbara Stanwyck's anthology series started off with a little morality play about a middle-aged, impoverished widow whose old mink coat was a symbol of a way of life. Happily, in the nick of time, she meets a baggage room attendant who persuades her that cloth coats are much nicer. But this happens only after it has been disclosed that he once was an important editor who deliberately gave up the "rat race" in favor of wrestling luggage.

That plot may sound pretty unlikely, but it is a well-known fact that in television land all the good men work with their muscles for a living and women only find happiness when they discover the joy of poverty.

Scarcely had one managed to rejoice in Barbara's happiness than one was confronted with Milton Berle standing in front of a bowling alley on something called "Jackpot Bowling."

Nothing much seems to have happened to Berle—or to his jokes, to be brutally frank—during his long vacation from television. Monday night's program demonstrated pretty conclusively that either the bowling or Berle needs more rehearsing. Berle didn't have time to finish a skit at the half-way mark and he used up so much time then the bowlers in the second half couldn't finish their match.

3 IBM Promotions Announced

J. E. VAN DINE

T. L. WIANDS

R. H. KELDER

Three new appointments in separate departments at Federal Systems Division plant of International Business Machines Corporation here have been announced by Richard J. Whalen, general manager.

Theodore L. Wiands, Kingston, who joined IBM in 1952 at Poughkeepsie as an apprentice tool and die maker, is now a tooling specialist in manufacturing engineering.

John E. Van Dine, Kingston, with the firm since 1948 when he joined it as a tool room attendant, has become an estimating specialist in military cost engineering.

Richard Kelder, Woodstock, who has become an accountant in cost control, joined IBM in 1956 as a clerk in timekeeping at the local plant.

Each of the three has earned other promotions previous to his recent job elevation.

Wiands is program chairman of the American Society of Tool and Manufacturing Engineers, president of the Ulster County Divers and delegate to the Hudson Valley Inland Diving Association.

A graduate of Saugerties High School, he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wiands, of Post Street, Saugerties. He is a veteran of four years service with the U. S. Navy.

He, his wife, Joan, and their two children, Deborah, 5, and Richard, 2, live at 70 Van Buren Street, here.

Van Dine, a graduate of Kingston High School, is a son of John Van Dine, of 18 Reynolds Street. He is a member of the 1960 board of directors of the Kingston American Little League and vice-president of the 1961 league.

A veteran of two years service with the U. S. Coast Guard, Van Dine, his wife, Marian, and child-

Buffalo Millers Gear for Work, Struck 12 Days

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The world's largest grain milling center geared for work today after a crippling 12-day strike that had idled more than 3,000 workers.

State Supreme Court Justice John S. Marsh issued a temporary back-to-work order Monday after ruling that a strike by 500 members of the Grain Elevator Employees Union Sept. 8 violated their contract.

Picket lines were gone from the 12 struck grain elevators on the waterfront shortly after the injunction was issued. This cleared the way for workers in Buffalo's four major mills to return to their jobs.

The grain mill workers had refused to cross picket lines.

A spokesman at General Mills Co., the largest plant here, said partial operations were under way Monday night. It was expected that the industry would be back to normal today. Officers of the striking union said they would tell their members to return to the elevators.

In issuing the injunction, Marsh agreed with eight elevator owners who charged that the strike violated specific contract agreements providing that a dispute at one of the elevators would not affect work at the others.

The strike stemmed from the layoff of 13 workers at the Buffalo Terminal Grain Corp. elevator after the Pennsylvania Railroad strike stopped grain shipments there.

The owners also filed for $1.2 million in strike damages.

FRACTURED STAR

Marlboro Grid Team Has Much New Talent

Marlboro Coach Jack Kroh has a young, inexperienced gridiron squad this year. Losses via graduation were great. They include Sam Mandia, a great split-T quarterback; tailback Brian White, halfback Charles Freilich, guards James Challanda and John Ferlita, center Pete Lyons, tackle Jerry Hennebeul and left end Bob Sullivan.

Four other regulars of last year — Vic Mandia, James Santora, Joseph Caserto and Ted Goulding — are not out for the squad.

Returning linemen are Brian Collins, Whilliam Hyatt, Joe McCourt, John Mataraza and Carlo Catamagnani. Returning to the backfield are Steve Hegyi and Charles Brooks.

Line candidates include Vito Calletta, Carroll Cook, Angelo Monte, Wayne Sarles, Robert Porcelli, James Edkert, Robert Gephard, James Guglielmino, James McLaughlin, Anthony Russo, Gerard Conn, Ray Yeaples, James Woodward and Rick VanDerKruik.

Those trying for the end position are Robert Sadler, Anthony Libonati, Cliff Salford, Steve Maier and Thomas Ragusa.

Backfield candidates are Frank Benevento, Ron Benevento, Van Conn, Steve Aurigemma, Gary Dayton, Vincent Caserto, Willy Hunt, Mike Pascale, John Rossetti, Trevor Blackett, James DeSantis and Frank Consoli.

Marlboro will play all its games on the road since the field is under construction.

Uncle Sam Claims Piece of Winnings At Race Tracks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government intends to be sure of getting its tax share of any big winnings on daily double and other race pool betting.

It is directing the nation's race tracks to file special reports with the name and address of anyone who wins $600 or more in a pool wager. The report to the Internal Revenue Service also must give the amount of the winnings.

So far, the order is being limited to pool winnings, with no report required of major winnings in individual races. That is because of the administrative problems involved, the service said.

Still under consideration is the possibility of requiring similar reports from gambling establishments that operate poker, roulette and dice games.

The law requires that all amounts won from gambling be reported as ordinary income for tax purposes. Gambling losses may be deducted against winnings but the loss deduction may not exceed the gains.

The new reporting order stems from a recent development in American race betting—the pool, in which the bettor picks the winner of four, five or six races.

Payoffs sometimes reach thousands of dollars in such cases.

Football Busts Out All Over; Pitt Is Picked Over Spartans

By HARRY GRAYSON

Newspaper Enterprise Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH (NEA)—The 1960 football season comes out swinging to bust you right in the eye in your own living room with the nationally-televised whopper between Pittsburgh and Michigan State at Pitt Stadium Sept. 24.

Both squads have been steamed up like a Turkish bath for the occasion.

"Because millions will see this game and for other reasons, I've never tried to get a team ready faster or prepared harder than for this one," said Duffy Daugherty, the Spartans' volatile coach. "After all, Texas A. and M. (in the opener a year ago) was the first non-Big Ten team to beat us in 16 games."

Somebody asked Daugherty about Miami of Florida in last season's finale.

"They were the second," Duffy snorted disgustedly.

Daugherty has considerably more than pride going for him. The character builder from the Pennsylvania coal country has probably the finest mixture of good veterans and standout sophomores in the Western Conference.

YET THE CHOICE HERE is Pittsburgh, say by 20-13. The Panthers having the UCLA scrap under their belts and being at home could be the difference. This is perhaps the most formidable Pitt party since the stand-up-and-cheer days of Jock Sutherland, and speed and finesse has supplanted the rock-and-soak-'em of the good doctor's single wing.

There is only one veteran tackle, Dick Mills, but the Tower of Learning is four deep and has a half dozen swift ends of whom Mike Ditka is the slickest. The quarterback situation is ameliorated by the return of Ed Sharockman, who showed tremendous promise as an understudy in 1958. And no one can get away from the big C backs—Bob Clemens, Fred Cox and Jim Cunningham.

As Kaye Kessler, the distinguished football historian of the Columbus, Ohio, Citizen-Journal reminds, Northwestern has started like a rocket and faded like a pastel painting the last two campaigns. The Wildcats still have a superlative first team, but virtually no depth and the idea here is that Oklahoma speed at Northwestern may make revenge sweet, something like 30-13.

UCLA WILL EXPERIENCE trouble scoring against a very formidable Purdue line, but the Boilermaker backfield is very questionable, so we have to go with the improved Uclans, 16-10.

If Ohio State's sophomores are as accomplished as they appeared in training, the road back for the Buckeyes could look like a freeway in the first outings against Southern Methodist. The Mustangs failed in two previous tries in Columbus with a dazzling aerial circus. They could catch the Bucks by surprise with a ground game reported to be sparkling, but the selection is Woody Hayes and Co., 24-10.

Southern California, with what could be one of the country's top college arrays, is too strong for Texas Christian, 34-6. Luther Hayes of the Trojans is a collegiate R. C. Owens on the Alley Oop pass.

Unveil Plans for New Wing At Trotters Hall of Fame

GOSHEN—Plans of a new wing for the Hall of Fame of the Trotter were unveiled this week. Trotting museum members took their first look at the proposed one story addition which will join the rear of the present building. The architect sketch shows the same Tudor style as the Hall of Fame.

Museum trustees approved recommendations for expansion last July. At that time, President E. Roland Harriman explained that recent important gifts to the museum, such as the original Phillips mobile starting gate, the high wheel sulky of Maude S. and Flora Temple, plus objects of art, necessitated plans to expand.

A number of remodeling changes are scheduled for the parent building as well. Slated for an overhaul will be the sunroom which will give way to driver's colors, trophies and works of art. The famous sulky will be housed in the loft, now serving as a gallery. Displays surrounding each sulky will help show the evolution of the racing vehicles.

The Standardized library, too, will grow to make way for the thousands of books used by researchers.

Leonard J. Buck was appointed chairman of the Building and Equipment Committee to raise funds for the expansion.

Bill Kinberg is likely to open the season at quarterback. He can pass well, either long or short. Nick Napolitano and Harry Brown are other candidates.

Bob Marsh, Bob Keener and Jim Cummings are the backfield candidates. Carl Cross and George Cline may start at end with the other hopefuls listed as George Horn, Ron Thurfler, Steve White and Bob Hoffman.

Lou Clemmer has been pushing Ang Velvake for the left tackle starting position and Dave Hyde is the third candidate. Jack Holohan, Harvey Cushing and Charlie Loidice are battling it out for the starting left tackle.

Chief candidates at guard are Charles Smith, Norm Bailey, Jack Hinton, Jim Wright, Stan Zoloski and Joe Radivoj. At center, the candidates include John Rodiek, George and John Brennan.

The Middies have an ambitious eight-game slate and are hopeful of a winning season for the first time in recent years. The schedule:

On the North-South side, second place went to Dr. John Olivet and Dr. Habeeb Maroon of Kingston with a 58 per cent game. Third was won by Roy Wulf and I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with 57½ per cent. Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft and C. Paul Jensen of Kingston had 54 per cent for fourth high.

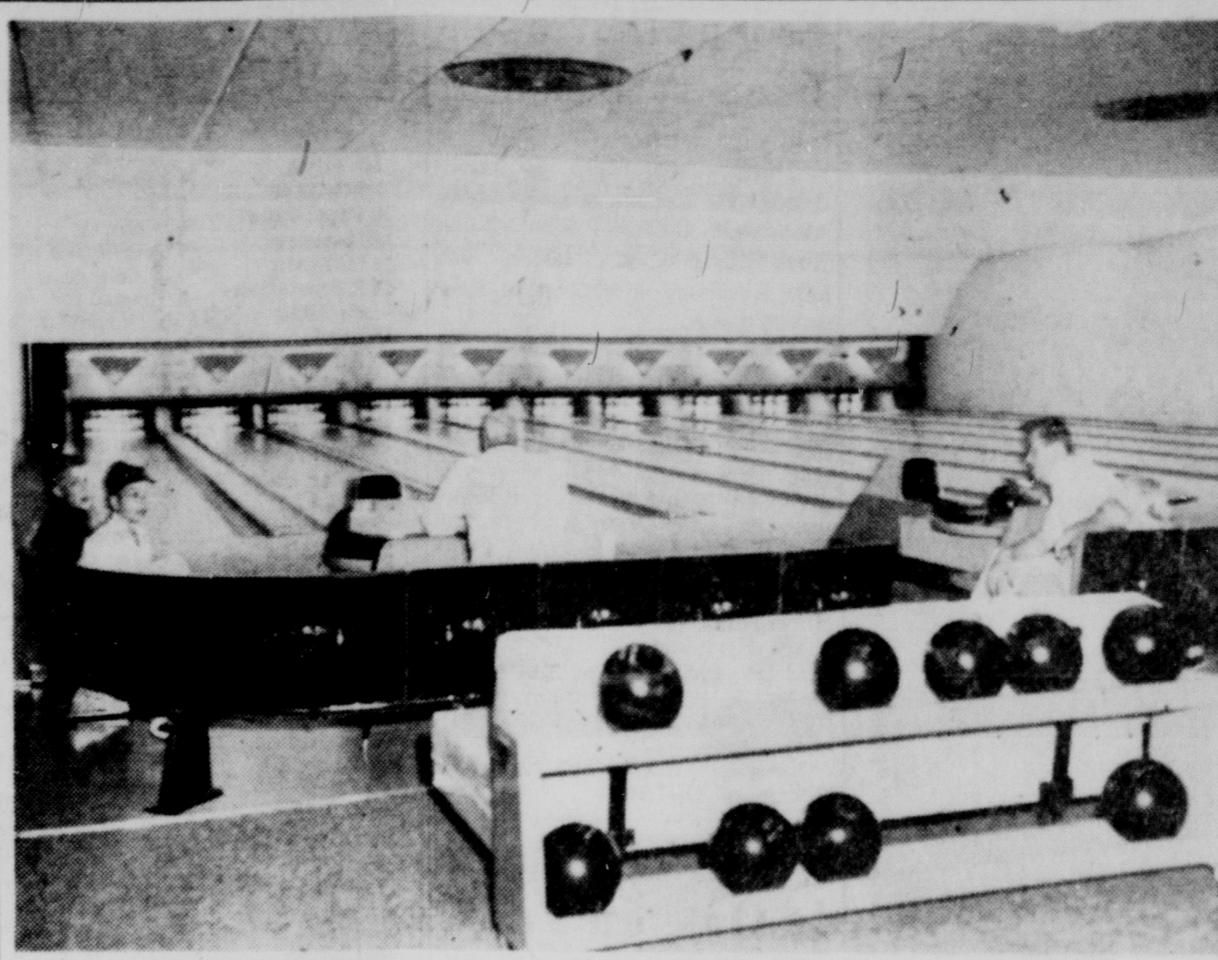

On the East-West side, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Brooke of Poughkeepsie had a 60 per cent game for second place. Third went to Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Briggs of Newburgh with 57½ per cent and fourth to Charles Rice of Saugerties and Morton Honig of Kingston with a 57 per cent game.

A man's greatest mistake is to suppose grass widows are green.

Jimmie was nine years old, but he had never spoken a word in his life and his family was very concerned about him.

Then one evening at dinner, Jimmie said in a loud, clear voice, I don't want spinach. Please give me string beans instead.

Why, Jimmie, what a surprise, said his father. We thought you couldn't talk. Why haven't you ever said a word before this?

Well, answered Jimmie, up to now, everything has been fine.

A little boy was taken to see Santa in a department store and the first thing he did was to kick Santa in the shins and say, "That's for last year."

BARBS

The only use for a nickel these days is so you can trade two of them for a dime and try to buy a nickel's worth of something.

Double features at the movie has taught us what home is without mother.

It's a good thing that women don't stop to think that their hair this year is just last year's trimmed over.

American children wear out an average of three pairs of shoes a year. The kids scuff and Dad scrapes.

Grandmother, on a winter's day, milked the cows, and fed the hogs, saddled the mule, and got the children off to school; did a washing, mopped the floors, washed the windows, and did some chores; cooked a dish of home-dried fruit, pressed husband's Sunday suit; swept the parlor, made the bed, baked a dozen loaves of bread; split some firewood, and lugged in enough to fill the kitchen bin; cleaned the lamps and put in oil, stewed some apples she thought would spoil; churned the butter; baked a cake, then exclaimed. For goodness sake, the calves are out of the pen—went out and chased them in again; gathered the eggs and locked the stable, back to the house and set the table, cooked a supper that was delicious, and afterward washed all the dishes; fed the cat and sprinkled the clothes, mended a basketful of hose, then opened the organ, and began to play. When You Come to the End of a Perfect Day.

Macpherson had invited his friend McTavish to have a drink. "Say when," he said hopefully and poured a wet drop into the glass. McTavish was silent.

Cautiously, Macpherson poured out another drop. Again silence from McTavish.

Did you hear about the fire at George's? said Macpherson suddenly.

When? asked his friend innocently.

Macpherson put the bottle down with a sigh of relief.

A couple of employees of a large concern were discussing their new boss.

You can't help liking the cuss, one remarked. If you don't, he fires you.

For Scout Drive

Edward Hill of 34 James Street, Rosendale has been named general solicitation chairman to direct the Rosendale phase of the 1960 fund campaign of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, according to an announcement made today by the Rosendale campaign chairman, Peter Mattheus.

The mayor noted that more and more people over the years have come to consider the tenets of the historic document as "a true harbor of freedom from persecution and oppression."

In his proclamation, Mayor Radel called upon all citizens to join with the members of the DAR "to consider and contemplate the blessings of American citizenship as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States." He urged the display of the American flag during the week of Constitution Week.

Hunter Training
Starts Saturday
At 156th Armory

Members of the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 156th Artillery New York Army Regular National Guard, and maintenance staff of the armory on North Manor Avenue here have volunteered to again conduct a hunter safety program for any interested persons over the age of 14 who have not previously held a hunting license.

License requirements for persons under 21 years of age include receiving instruction in firearms safety and a certificate from a designated instructor. Instructors are designated by the New York State Department of Conservation and must be qualified in the handling of firearms.

The first class of instruction will be given at 2 p.m., Saturday, September 24, at the State armory. All young nimrods are urged to take advantage of this opportunity to qualify for a hunting license.

Calibre .22 rifles may be brought to the armory by those interested in the training program. Rifles should be carried to the class unloaded. Training ammunition will be furnished by the instructors. The armory firing range will be used for some of the training sessions and an interesting as well as educational safety training program will be given.

Instructors for the local training course are Major Frank Fabbie, executive officer of the 156th Artillery, Major Arthur W. Foehser, Army Advisor to the local Guard unit, Staff Sergeant William J. Ferguson, Mess Sergeant of Battery A, Captain Andrew B. Grier, battalion communications officer and Robert Houghtaling, an armory employee. All of the instructors have volunteered to assist in this important hunter safety program. The public is urged to support this program.

Wilfred Doolittle, director of the Rosendale Reformed Church board of Christian education, will accept the duties of superintendent of the church school temporarily. Mrs. Albert Atkins was elected secretary.

The teaching staff will consist of Mrs. Robert Lasher, nursery substitute, Mrs. George Bockelman; kindergarten 1, Mrs. Harold Arnold with Mrs. Albert Gaines substituting; kindergarten 2, Mrs. Richard Roberts with Mrs. Marion Morris, substitute; primary 1, Mrs. Robert Gruppe with Mrs. Milton Shufeldt, substitute; primary 2, Mrs. Doolittle with Mrs. Henry Meigel substitute; primary 3, Mrs. Atkins with Mrs. James Schulz substitute; juniors 1, 2 and 3, Mrs. Veikko Jalanti with Mrs. LeRoy Constant substitute; junior high 1, 2, and 3, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson with Mrs. Louis Mastro, substitute; senior high, Ferdinand Fiedler with Harry Wasp substituting, and adult, Mrs. George Mollenhauer with the Rev. Robert Gruppe in when necessary.

Other available substitutes will be Mrs. Richard Weir, Mrs. Ronald Ulrich and Mrs. Elmore Wallace.

ROSENDALE-TILLSON—4

Doolittle reported that the church school picnic and the daily vacation Bible school were very successful.

Since Mrs. Ted Hansen will be unable to play the piano for church school this year, Mrs. Mollenhauer will fill in until someone else is obtained.

The lack of space in all classes was discussed and rearrangements were suggested.

The senior class will meet at the parsonage, adults at the church hall and the junior high group in the church kitchen. If this does not solve the problem, the possibility of rollaway room dividers will be investigated.

The official meeting date for the Board of Christian Education was set as the first Friday of the month.

Two Caught Pilfering
Gasoline, Plead Guilty

Two Kingston young men pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge Monday night for pilfering gasoline from a truck owned by John Mancini of Town of Ulster. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert Stedje and must appear for sentencing Thursday at 7 p.m.

Trooper Charles Bundschuh said Mancini caught Jacob C. Senor Jr., 22, of 164 Tremper Avenue, and Williams J. McDermott, 18, of Colonial Gardens, siphoning gasoline from one of his trucks in the yard of his ready-mix cement business. According to Kingston State Police, Mancini had been noticing a shortage of about 200 gallons of gasoline over a short period of time and decided to wait up one evening with an employee in order to catch the pilferers in the act.

Mancini's plant is at Kukuk Lane, Town of Ulster. The incident was reported about 11:45 p.m.

Mr. Hill pointed out that the central theme of the 1960 campaign is "Better a Boy's Tomorrow—Support Scouting Today."

The newly-appointed chairman also stressed that continuing growth of the Scouting movement in the 120 communities affiliated with the Rip Van Winkle Council necessitates public support, both in funds contributed and leadership volunteered.

Maple Hill School*Turned Over to Town

George Mollenhauer, supervisor of the Town of Rosendale, has announced the receipt of a communication from the Greater Kingston Consolidated Schools giving the deed to the now closed Maple Hill School to the town. It is planned that the building be used as a meeting place and for public functions.

The Democrats previously had refused to give Foster a bipartisan endorsement. Their stated reason was that Foster — serving since Jan. 1 through appointment by Gov. Rockefeller — filled a vacancy created by the retirement of Chief Judge Albert Conaway of Brooklyn, a Democrat.

On this basis, the Democrats contended that the judge replacing Conway permanently should be a Democrat. Brooklyn Democrats demanded the post for one of their own. And State Supreme Court Justice Henry L. Ughetta of Brooklyn was nominated by the Democrats.

Party was put on Liberal Party leaders to give the party's designation to Ughetta. But the Liberal Party endorsed Foster Monday night.

The Liberal Party endorsement could prove the balance of power and give Foster the election.

The endorsement was the first given by the Liberal Party to a Republican candidate for a statewide office in an election in which the Democrats also have a candidate in the field.

The Liberals have joined the Democrats several times in endorsing Republicans for statewide judicial posts. The Liberals did so this year for Judge Stanley H. Fuld, who is seeking reelection to the court of appeals.

The Liberals originally nominated State Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Brenner of Brooklyn for the post held by Foster. He withdrew as a candidate Sunday. This forced the Liberal Party to review its position.

The teaching staff will consist of Mrs. Robert Lasher, nursery substitute, Mrs. George Bockelman; kindergarten 1, Mrs. Harold Arnold with Mrs. Albert Gaines substituting; kindergarten 2, Mrs. Richard Roberts with Mrs. Marion Morris, substitute; primary 1, Mrs. Robert Gruppe with Mrs. Milton Shufeldt, substitute; primary 2, Mrs. Doolittle with Mrs. Henry Meigel substitute; primary 3, Mrs. Atkins with Mrs. James Schulz substitute; juniors 1, 2 and 3, Mrs. Veikko Jalanti with Mrs. LeRoy Constant substitute; junior high 1, 2, and 3, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson with Mrs. Louis Mastro, substitute; senior high, Ferdinand Fiedler with Harry Wasp substituting, and adult, Mrs. George Mollenhauer with the Rev. Area citizens are invited to enroll in the Action Course in Practical Politics offered by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. Men and women may enroll.

For each 15 to 20 persons who enroll, able to take the 9-lesson course at one given time, a group will be organized.

Last Spring, three groups including 49 men and women completed the courses. Previous to the start of each group conference will be held to arrange the time, day, place and select a discussion leader.

The award for 1959 was made to Patrolman Meyer Levy at a special dinner given in his honor and attended by all off-duty officers and members of the police department. The 1960 recognition is scheduled in the same vein, according to Chairman Englander.

The selection of the 1960 award winner is now underway, and plans for the event are in the making, stated the representative of the local service club.

The Public Service Commission Chairman Charles R. Ross said the strike, if prolonged, could cause the railway's collapse, with "dire consequences" for western Vermont industry.

Director W. E. Bermingham of the Vermont Development Commission said "any possible collapse of the Rutland Railway would be a drastic blow to the industrial development potential in a large part of the state."

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Deboevois said Monday his office is investigating possible steps the state can take should it be necessary to intervene. Ross, after a conference with Deboevois, said they met to determine what emergency police powers are available to the state as a last resort.

The railroad laid off some 20 men last week. About 100 of its 400 employees, members of four railbrotherhoods, quit their jobs Friday in protest against proposals to drop four freight runs—which union officials said would mean more layoffs.

Rutland president William I. Ginsburg walked out of a session between management and union representatives Sunday night and negotiations were broken off.

Two Caught Pilfering Gasoline, Plead Guilty

Two Kingston young men pleaded guilty to a petit larceny charge Monday night for pilfering gasoline from a truck owned by John Mancini of Town of Ulster. They were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert Stedje and must appear for sentencing Thursday at 7 p. m.

Trooper Charles Bundschuh said Mancini caught Jacob C. Senior Jr., 22 of 164 Tremper Avenue, and William J. McDermott, 18 of Colonial Gardens, siphoning gasoline from one of his trucks in the yard of his ready-mix cement business.

According to Kingston State Police, Mancini had been noticing a shortage of about 200 gallons of gasoline over a short period of time and decided to wait up one evening with an employee in order to catch the pilferers in the act.

Mancini's plant is at Kukuk Lane, Town of Ulster. The incident was reported about 11:45 p. m.

Liberals Endorse Foster, GOP Man, For Appeals Job

NEW YORK (AP) — The Liberal Party has endorsed Judge Sydney F. Foster of Liberty, the Republican nominee for the Court of Appeals, New York State's highest tribunal.

The Democrats previously had refused to give Foster a bipartisan endorsement. Their stated reason was that Foster — serving since Jan. 1 through appointment by Gov. Rockefeller — filled a vacancy created by the retirement of Chief Judge Albert Conway, a Democrat.

On this basis, the Democrats contended that the judge replacing Conway permanently should be a Democrat. Brooklyn Democrats demanded the post for one of their own. And State Supreme Court Justice Henry L. Ughetta of Brooklyn was nominated by the Democrats.

Pressure was put on Liberal Party leaders to give the party's designation to Ughetta. But the Liberal Party endorsed Foster Monday night.

The Liberal Party endorsement could prove the balance of power and give Foster the election.

The endorsement was the first given by the Liberal Party to a Republican candidate for a statewide office in an election in which the Democrats also have a candidate in the field.

The Liberals have joined the Democrats several times in endorsing Republicans for statewide judicial posts. The Liberals did so this year for Judge Shalev H. Fuld, who is seeking reelection to the court of appeals.

The Liberals originally nominated State Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Brenner of Brooklyn for the post held by Foster. He withdrew as a candidate Sunday. This forced the Liberal Party to review its position.

The Public Service Commission Chairman Charles R. Ross said the strike, if prolonged, could cause the railway's collapse, with "dire consequences" for western Vermont industry.

Director W. E. Bermingham of the Vermont Development Commission said "any possible collapse of the Rutland Railway would be a drastic blow to the industrial development potential in a large part of the state."

Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Deboevois said Monday his office is investigating possible steps the state can take should it be necessary to intervene. Ross, after a conference with Deboevois, said they met to determine what emergency police powers are available to the state as a last resort.

The railroad laid off some 20 men last week. About 100 of its 400 employees, members of four railbrotherhoods, quit their jobs Friday in protest against proposals to drop four freight runs—which union officials said would mean more layoffs.

Rutland president William I. Ginsburg walked out of a session between management and union representatives Sunday night and negotiations were broken off.

Ginsburg declined comment but others at the meeting said he had insisted the men return to work as a condition for resuming negotiations.
